

A Story

One day, when the sun was shining in the bright blue sky, A little girl asked her mother if she could have a baby chick. Her mother said "yes of course you can have a little baby chick but only if you look after it." "I will look after it promise" pleaded the girl. "Well, ok then". The next day the girl heard a funny noise. What could it be? She carefully crept out of bed and turned on the lights. Suddenly, under her eyes she saw a chick in a beautiful golden cage. She quickly got the chick food and held her chick. CHICK, CHICK, CHICK, CHICK. The little chick ate the delicious food.

The next day, the girl wanted to take the chick to school. "What nonsense!" shouted her mum. However, the girl quickly hid the chick in her school bag. If her mum had found out that she took the chick to school, she would be in big big TROUBLE! While she was walking to school, she tied a necklace on the chick so the chick could speak to her,

When the little girl got her homework book, she left the bag open. Suddenly?the chick escaped. The beautiful girl never knew that her chick was missing. The chick went to all places in the huge school but noone saw the little chick. The next time the little beautiful girl looked in her bag for her maths book, she saw that she had left the zip open and she thought her chick had gone! When she checked in her back pocket she found the little chick ascaped! "Ding dong Ding dong break time everyone!" called our Mrs Faunt. The little beautiful girl searched and searched and SEARCHED for her chick but she had no luck, She took a deep breath in and out. A few minutes later the girl hid the chick in her bag and she remembered to close the zip.

At home, she told her mum the truth about what had happened at school. "Will you forgive me mum?" weeped the girl. "Of course," said her mum.

Tasnim-West Drayton Primary School

Spelling mistakes:

corse = course

ascaped = escaped

A Story

Once upon a time, there lived a little brother and sister. They were not at all the same. In fact in every way they were different. Every day, they argued incessantly. One day, their mother grew despondent and exasperated with them and pushed them out the clean door. Together! So the brother dragged his sister to a piece of waste ground. But the sister hated the place.

Soon, the brother went off to explore and left his sister alone by herself. 5 hours later he called her while she was in the middle of reading. "Look! A tunnel! Let's go!" "No we should not because we might get lost in there." But he did not care at all. He went in anyway!

Soon, the sister followed her brother in to the tunnel. At the other end of the tunnel was an extremely huge wood. Suddenly, the huge woods turned into a scary forest, but in the middle of the scary forest was her brother as still as stone.

Rose through her arms around the stone figure and wept loudly. Slowly but surely the figure was changing warmer and softer. Her brother was back. "Oh Rose I new you would come" he said extremely happily.

Together they ran through the forest, through the tunnel and out. Together! As soon as they reached home their mother was just setting the table ready for lunch. Rose smiled at her brother! Her brother smiled back! Their mother asked "is everything alright?" "Yes" they said.

Paris - West Drayton Primary School

Spelling mistakes:

weped = wept

A Newspaper Report

Big lion approached a little school!

Children and staff at Broad Lane Junior School were evacuated from the playground because a large male lion had calmly trotted in through a gate which had been left open for a delivery van.

Interviews

Here we are going to interview a young child and a clever teacher. The reporter asked a member of Broad Lane Junior School, "How did you feel as the large male lion approached you?" The child replied quietly, "I felt absolutely petrified!"

What happened to the lion?

Anyway, the lion didn't harm any children because brisk thinking Mary Bentley, the school cook, said I, the hero, saved the children and staff by throwing a piece of meat to the lion and bravely closing the window!?

One teacher, Mrs Riley, told the children, "don't worry about the lion because the experts have come to do their job".

If you see the reckless male lion, be careful!

Daniel - West Drayton Primary School

An Explanation Text

How to prepare for a football match.

Hello, sports superstars! Have you ever wondered curiously why some footballers are so talented? Well you have come to the right place! Read on and find out!

Instructions

1. First, warm up gently.
2. After that, eat an apple or an orange to keep you going.
3. Shortly after, drink a little water or pure, fresh orange juice.
4. Then, go to the toilet so you don't need to go during a football match.
5. Later on, have a cool shower to relax your muscles.
6. Lastly, do some gentle warm-ups and a mini training session. Then you are ready to play a football match!

Daniel S West Drayton Primary School

An Information Leaflet

All you need to know about West Drayton
Primary School

4F Day

- Assembly (9.00)
- Literacy (9.30)
- Break time (10.50)
- Numeracy (11.10)
- Spelling (12.05)
- Lunch (12.20)
- Reading (1.10)
- Curriculum subjects (1.30)
- Home time (3.10)

What happens when you begin?

When you start a new year, first you will have a spelling test. Second of all, you will be given a maths and reading test. After that, you will be put into a house team. Finally, you will be given a peg.

Do's	Don'ts
Do listen to the teacher's instructions.	Don't leave rubbish on the floor.
Do concentrate when you are doing work.	Don't talk back to the teacher.
Do follow the school rules.	Don't tell tales and don't tell tales.
Keep hands feet and objects to yourself.	Don't call out while the teacher is talking.

Listen! If your class are lucky, they might go on a school trip

This is a picture of the school field.

